NATURE MEETS MODERN VINTAGE - GLYNDEBOURNE by Warwick

OVERVIEW: Mid-19th century vintage meets modern majestic with GLYNDEBOURNE, a Warwick Naturally fabric, suited to both drapery and upholstery, perfect for antique-style sofas, occasional chairs, statement drapes and decorative lampshades. With a provincial design, it will bring a rustic aesthetic to both residential and general commercial interiors alike. This collection will transform an interior into a classic, stylish and elegant space.

- DESIGN: Paying homage to the establishment of Warwick Fabrics in the United Kingdom, GLYNDEBOURNE touches on its English origins, capturing its heritage in a classic yet beautiful large scale screen print. Focusing on woodlands, florals and the beauty of boughs and birds in an English woodland, GLYNDEBOURNE is a dry, matte textured cotton-linen fabric that has a hand drawn aesthetic and offers an organic look to interiors.
- APPLICATION: GLYNDEBOURNE is dual-purpose and can be used to create striking drapery, elegant large-scale sofas and feature chairs, as well as statement cushions. With a modern take on popular French Provincial style, this fabric is Warwick Naturally, adding a natural and authentic feel to residential and general commercial spaces.
- COLOURWAYS: With a natural base of khaki linen and taupe, each colourway is highlighted with traditional hero shades that create a stunning classic interior. Bright pops of red and burgundy are found in Emperor, while Document expresses a rich red and navy blue. Forest stays true to its name offering purple and emerald hues. And lastly, Ink, the more muted colourway of the collection that displays a mixture of navy and grey for a soft—almost greyscale—option.
- RATING: A Warwick Naturally fabric, GLYNDEBOURNE is suited to both drapery and upholstery – perfect for antique-style sofas, occasional chairs, statement drapes and decorative lampshades. With a provincial design, it will bring a rustic aesthetic to both residential and general commercial interiors alike.
